School time

30 hours of curriculum (with an option between Catholic religious Ed. or alternative subject). The curricular didactic activity provides a time schedule divided into five days a week, from Monday to Friday, of six hours each from 8.00 to 14.00.

The ringing of the entrance bell, to guarantee the punctual start of the lessons, is given at 7.55; the students enter the school building one class at a time, starting from the first classes students, to then be taken over by the teacher of the first hour who takes them to the classroom, where the teaching activity begins.

The timetable includes two morning intervals, the former from 9.55 am to 10.05 am; the latter from 11.55 to 12.05.

The school offers families

- Two general interviews during the afternoon (primary and secondary school)

- An interview for the parents of 5-year-old pupils, aimed at the transition to primary school

· Individual interviews in morning time (secondary school)

· Individual afternoon interviews (kindergarten and primary school)

· Possible interviews at the request of one of the two components for all school orders

· Assembly moments for all school orders

The school guarantees

- unity and continuity of education and teaching of the training path

- sharing of the PTOF

- the right to information by means of formal messages addressed to families to illustrate the initiatives of the institute

- constantly updated website

- individual communication of the annual planning of school-family meetings.

The family collaborates:

· Intervening at assemblies and meetings promoted by the school

· By proposing topics for discussion and exchange of views through their representatives

· Keeping informed about the initiatives of the school

· Supporting their children during the school process

· Participating in individual interviews

· Cooperating so that the students find positive and shared educational attitudes in their living environments

· Periodically consulting the Electronic Register, whose access credentials are provided by the secretary's office, allowing access to the personal page of their child, in order to:

- verify his/her presence at school
- know the topic of the lessons and the homework assigned

- be informed about evaluations, any annotations or disciplinary sanctions

- receive announcements of general interest or educational material shared by teachers

- book day and time to talk with the teachers

The projects of the Comprehensive Institute

The Comprehensive Institute offers, within curricular programming or extracurricular hours, the following projects, generally common to the three complexes, adapted to the different needs of the students and scheduled at different times of the school year. Several of these projects are carried out in collaboration with the Municipality of Sant'Agata B.se, the other Local Authorities and through interventions by experienced and qualified personnel.

To learn more about contents, objectives, purposes, receivers, times and methods of carrying out each project, families are invited to consult the extended version of the Three-Year Plan of the Educational Offer, which can be downloaded from the school website.
